Welcome

Our college offers a broad range of vocational education and training (VET) programmes alongside school-based training courses in various fields. In addition, students can obtain all levels of school-leaving certificates, from the First School-Leaving Certificate after year 9 (Erster Schulabschluss, typically age 15) to the general higher education entrance qualification (Abitur).

BKGL provides vocational education and training as well as school-leaving certificates in four areas:

- Social and healthcare services
- Food and nutritional services
- Technology
- Design

A team of 140 dedicated and experienced educators support our students, enthusiastically helping them to forge successful careers.

We are particularly keen to provide individual support to students who have been unable to obtain a school-leaving certificate, helping them to pursue their aspirations and secure the qualifications they need.

We firmly believe that everyone can find the right programme and support they need at BKGL. So prepare to get involved and seize the opportunity to reinvent yourself!

Thanks to this constellation of programmes, BKGL teaches a vibrant community of people driven by a variety of interests, talents and aspirations. This makes us a microcosm – a reflection of our diverse society..

Food and nutritional services

There are many exciting job opportunities in the food and nutritional services sector. Whether you are an aspiring cook or baker or want to work in a hospitality role such as housekeeping or catering, all these careers share one common denominator: Their focus is on people, service and food. Creativity is key and you will need to think on your feet. If you are passionate about one of these jobs, our food and nutrition services programmes are a perfect opportunity to pursue your interests and get you prepared for the world of work.

Design

Design is a creative process: Making, modifying or developing objects can bring them to life. Whether it's about creating graphics, textiles, hairstyles and outfits, or about working as a painter, design always speaks to our senses. If you have a keen eye for detail, love exploring form and colour, and enjoy getting immersed in your work, then our design department is the perfect hub for you to launch your career.

Social and healthcare services

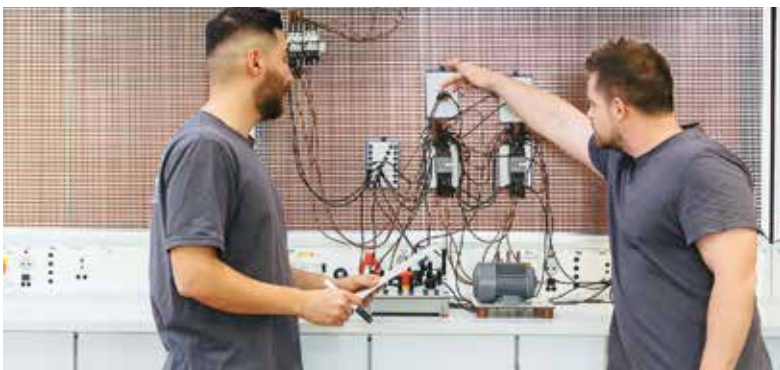

Are you seeking a profession dedicated to improving people's physical, mental and social wellbeing? Are you keen to work with different age groups and provide childcare, social education, fitness training and physical therapy, or healthcare support services? Do you want to bring more quality and joy to people's lives? Then our healthcare and social services department has just the right programme for you! Here, you will learn everything you need to kick off your professional career while contributing to the betterment of society.

Technology

If you have a knack for technology and science and enjoy working with materials and / or on a computer, there are a number of areas where you can put your talents to work. Potential professions include metal construction worker, carpenter, automotive mechatronics technician, HVAC technician or power and building technology electrician. We will make sure you leave BKGL equipped with the right in-demand technical expertise.

Pre-vocational training

Pre-vocational training equips students with basic vocational knowledge and skills and guides them towards specific career paths. Learners acquire the necessary skills to take up initial vocational training in a variety of specialisations. Some of our pre-vocational training programmes allow participants to obtain the First School-Leaving Certificate within one year. Skills are acquired at college in applied learning environments and put into practice during work placements. The programmes are run on a full- or part-time basis.

BKGL offers the following programmes:

- Vocational orientation
- Dual-track vocational year
- In-company orientation
- International pre-vocational education / Fit for more

Vocational orientation

You have finished 10 years of compulsory education at lower secondary level, but vocational education remains compulsory for you. You haven't earned the First School-Leaving Certificate yet and want to get prepared for vocational training. With this programme, you can obtain the First School-Leaving Certificate, which will allow you to attend Berufsfachschule I. The programme will also prepare you for vocational training and equip you with skills and knowledge from two of the following areas of your choosing (theory and practice):

- Construction and woodworking
- Metal technology
- Textiles and clothing
- Nutritional and healthcare management

In-company orientation

You have finished 10 years of compulsory education at lower secondary level, but vocational education remains compulsory for you. You haven't earned the First School-Leaving Certificate yet and want to get prepared for vocational training. You are the hands-on type and have good manual skills. While you may not have achieved high grades at school, you are keen to explore your career options within a company and prove that you are motivated to take up vocational training. You will split your time between a work placement (3 days) and attending vocational college (2 days), which gives you the chance to convince your host company that you are their ideal candidate for next year's apprenticeship programme. Or perhaps, college isn't quite that bad after all?

This is your opportunity to fill your knowledge gaps and rediscover how much fun college can be! Your First School-Leaving Certificate will make you eligible to apply for an apprenticeship or subsequent VET programmes.

Dual-track vocational year:

You have finished 10 years of compulsory education at lower secondary level, but vocational education remains compulsory for you. BKGL provides guidance on different career paths and helps you prepare for and find a vocational training programme that suits you and your skills. This is a full-time dual-track programme with a workload of 40 hours per week. You will split your time between college (2 days per week) and your work placement (3 days per week). The hands-on work experience gained during your placement will enable you to better assess the tasks and duties that match your skills and help you pinpoint the next steps in your professional career. This may also include identifying the careers that don't align with your skillset – which is an equally important process. Often, a successful work placement will pave the way for your subsequent vocational training. BKGL offers the following programmes:

- Design
- Social services
- Nutrition and healthcare management
- Technology

International pre-vocational education / Fit for more

Life at BKGL

Life at BKGL is the very opposite of dull! We offer an extensive range of activities and opportunities to help our students grow – both as individuals and collectively.

Outdoor education activities encourage them to improve and strengthen their social and communication skills.

College fundraising

Established in 1986, our fundraising association supports collaboration across college departments and between all individuals who contribute to daily life at college. Our mission is to promote education at our institution, both as an ideal and by mobilising additional financial resources. Without the support of our fundraising association, many college events would be difficult to hold. We support VET programmes in planning and organising class trips and excursions. We also provide funding for state-of-the-art carpentry equipment or projects such as the construction and planting of raised garden beds.

Join our fundraising association and help to put young people on their professional path. All donations and annual contributions are tax-deductible.

The minimum contribution is just €15.00.

Experiential education

For almost a decade now, we have been putting collective learning and the value of discovery at the heart of our work, giving priority to experiential education outdoors. Out-of-the-ordinary situations encourage our students to engage with each other in new ways. Together, they solve challenging team tasks and develop constructive skills that we continually strengthen, making diversity an enriching experience that forges a sense of community.

Counselling for learners & mentoring system

Students in need of extra educational support have access to BKGL's mentoring programme. Regular sessions in small groups will allow you to improve your English or maths skills, irrespective of whether you are having a hard time keeping up or just want to hone your skills. The best part? It's absolutely free.

Social work support

Our team of social workers provides:

- Information and guidance on our educational offers
- Help and support in overcoming college-related and personal challenges
- Crisis intervention services
- Professional and individual guidance for a successful school-to-work transition.

Fairtrade

BKGL is proud to be a recognised “Fairtrade School” and has been part of the movement since 2017. To achieve this status, our college was required to take five steps. One of these was to establish our own BKGL Fairtrade group, which – in partnership with the college’s headship – drafted a plan on how to weave fair trade topics into daily life at our college. Further, we had to make Fairtrade products available to students and teachers. And every year, our college holds at least two events to engage with fair trade issues.

MOVE ON – EU mobility programmes

If you are dreaming of a work placement in another EU country, we encourage you to contact the MOVE ON programme at the Department for EU Projects in Vocational Education and Training of the Cologne Government Regional Office. Please do not hesitate to contact us if you require support in communicating with the department, or if your training company is reluctant to support your initiative. We are happy to help bring you closer to achieving your dream!

Equality

Promoting women and gender equality at BKGL

- Participation in Girls' and Boys' Day events since 2003
- Our educators have access to guidance and counselling provided by our equality champions
- All our VET programmes promote gender mainstreaming and equal opportunities
- Our equal opportunities champions have a permanent (mandatory) seat in the appointments committee responsible for the selection of teaching staff
